

Presenting

Published in the US
as The Trouble with Twins
by Knopf Books for Young Readers, August 2016.

Available in hardcover,
paperback, e-book, and audiobook.

Published in the UK by Oxford University Press
as Missing Arabella,
August 2016.

Soon to be published in Italy
by Terre di Mezzo, early 2017.

The Story...

There once were two sisters, Henrietta and Arabella, who meant everything to each other.

But they quarreled, and Henrietta did something unforgivable to her sister. So, she was sent away to live with her Aunt Priscilla.....

© Júlia Sardà 2016

Henrietta spent her time making strange, fish-head soup and missing her sister, Arabella.....

And Arabella spent her time missing Henrietta and coming up with a plan to find her way back to her sister.

© Júlia Sardà 2016

It wasn't easy.

But Arabella was determined.....

© Júlia Sardà 2016

..... Because she knew that sometimes a little bit of mischief is the only way to set things right.

Press

“... delightful, beautifully constructed debut . . . Gently comic in style and with a cast of wonderful characters . . . destined to be very popular.”

- The Bookseller

“A warm and witty take on a traditional set-up of two sisters and some rather unpleasant parents. The style is fresh and fun. . . lively characters and cute side-line stories including a pre-teen giant and a lovestruck teacher. Great voice and a contemporary feel makes it less Grimm and more Disney. Lots of fun!”

- BookTrust

“a dashing comic tale of self-reliance complete with sly digs at adult failures of perception...”

- ourdailyread.com (The Guardian)

“... an enjoyable way for children to confront unpalatable truths about favoritism and sibling rivalry.”

★★★★ - The Daily Telegraph

“Even readers without twins will identify with the universal truths of being a sibling.”

- Kirkus

“... clever, warmhearted ... eccentric adventure. Gory-esque spot illustrations capitalize on the story’s gothic atmosphere, a promising debut for Siebel.”

- Publisher’s Weekly

“With an abundance of quirky characters and plotline that call to mind Roald Dahl or Lemony Snicket, this first novel offers a gently mischievous exploration of both family ties and sibling rivalry.”

- Booklist

About the Author

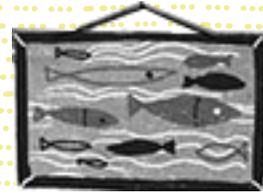

Kathryn Siebel teaches humanities at Billings Middle School in Seattle and works with elementary school students at the Green Lake School-Age Child-Care Program.

She has worked in educational publishing and as an English teacher and librarian and has an MFA from the Iowa Writers' Workshop.

Missing Arabella is her first novel. You can find her at kathrynsiebel.com.

For more information about
The Trouble with Twins' illustrator, visit juliasarda.com.

For more information about Missing Arabella's cover and interior art, visit andrewbannecker.com.

